INTERNAL TROUBLES IN JAPAN AND RUSSIA

Marquis Ito Stoned in the Streets of Tokio by Infuriated Japs.

RUSSIA IS PREPARING TO BUILD A NEW AND LARGER FLEET OF SHIPS

The Riots and Massacres in Parts of Russia Continue With Great Fury.

BAKU IS BURNING.

London, Sept. 7.—A Russian firm here has received a telegram from Baku which says the arsenal there has been blown up, and great havoc was caused by the explosion. Many casualties resulted.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—The latest advices from Baku say the condition there is hopeless and the whole city is now afire.

MOB'S WORK IN TOKIO.

Tokio, Sept. 7.—(Delayed.)—After attacking the office of the Koku-min, organ of the government, Tuesday, a mob bent on manifesting its displeasure at the peace terms, proceeded to the residence of the minister of the interior, the police guard was overpowered by rioters, the building burned and the mob then threatened to attack the residences of other cabinet members.

The police interfered and forcibly prevented the rioters doing further damage.

The mob burned ten Christian churches and one mission school.

Marquis Ito Stoned.

Tokio, Sept. 7.—Marquis Ito, Japan's foremost statesman, and for years the idol of the populace, and Edward H. Harriman, an American railway magnate, were stoned in the streets today by a mob. Neither was injured.

Services at Peterhof.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—The great religious service to celebrate the signing of the peace treaty, at Portsmouth, was held at Peterhof today, and Te Deum was sung. The czar and imperial family attended the services.

Russians Destroy Much Oil.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—The troubles at Baku continue unabated, according to the latest reports received and the situation is growing worse constantly. Over five hundred oil wells are reported destroyed, and the naptha refineries and most everything says a telegram from Balakhany, where many of the largest oil wells of Russia are located, and the entire place is reduced to ashes. The czar has telegraphed peremptory orders that the revolt must be stamped out at any cost.

The demonstration is regarded as a manifestation of the bitterness with which the Japanese people received the news of the peace terms agreed upon at Portsmouth. When Ito and Harriman appeared a crowd quickly gathered.

The leaders of the rioting yesterday in the crowd began the trouble by jeering at Marquis Ito. He took the matter coolly until some one threw a stone. In a moment the crowd was transformed into a wild mob and missiles were thrown.

The police charged the mob, dispersing them.

To Build New Russian Fleet.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—It is reported that five hundred million roubles are already set aside for the construction of a new Russian fleet.

Streets of Baku Unsafe.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—News from Baku is of the gloomiest character.

Armenian and Tartar warring factions now appear to be entirely beyond control. The streets of Baku are unsafe for inhabitants and troops are inadequate to restrain the anarchy tendencies of the combatants

HUSBAND IS DEAD FROM PISTOL SHOT

Iowa Man Shoots His Wife and Then Commits Suicide.

Couple Fall 100 Feet From Ferris
Wheel at St. Paul, and Woman Was Instantly Killed.

A PEANUT ROASTER EXPLODES.

Kellertown, Ia., Sept. 7.—Frank McGuire shot his wife through the neck and then shot himself, dying almost instantly. The wife will recover. The shots set McGuire's clothing afire and they were burning when friends reached him. Jealousy was the cause.

Fell From Ferris Wheel.

St. Paul, Sept. 7.—In the presence of thousands of visitors at the state fair yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Seventhall, of Eau Claire, Wis., fell from the upper car of a Ferris wheel to the ground, nearly 100 feet. Mrs. Seventhall was instantly killed and her husband probably fatally injured. The accident created a scene bordering on a panic. The car was descending and the seat in which they were sitting broke, precipitating them to the ground.

Killed by Peanut Roaster.

Waggoner, I. T., Sept. 7.—Mrs. Robert McGuire was killed, and three others were injured and plate glass windows in half the block broken today as the result of an explosion of a gasoline tank of a peanut roaster.

CONTRACT NOT LET.

For Wrecking the Stable On the Elks' Property.

Bids were opened yesterday afternoon for tearing down the old Terrell livery stable on North Fifth street to make way for the Elks' new building. A question was raised, however, as to whether the bids were for the whole stable or for the part owned by the Elks. Mr. Terrell rents a frame addition back of the stable from Mr. W. H. Patterson, who owns property back of the Elks' property. The lodge owns about 115 feet, while the stable is 173 feet long. Everything will be straightened out in a few days and the contract for wrecking the stable will be let. Mr. John Terrell expects to get into his new stable on Jefferson street inside of three weeks.

15 DROWNED.

On the Voyage of the Tropic From Chili.

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 7.—The British steamship Tropic, from Valparaiso, Chili, arrived here after a voyage lasting nearly three months. The second mate Purser and fifteen seamen are missing.

While off Peru, 15 miles from Constitution, the ship went hard aground not three hundred yards from the beach.

High seas were running. The second mate, Purser, and 15 seamen put out in the lifeboat for Constitution for aid but never returned. When the storm abated somewhat the vessel was found to be undamaged.

DRANK POISON

After Being Arrested For Alleged Embezzlement.

St. Charles, Mo., Sept. 7.—When placed under arrest at his home Edward M. Selby seized a bottle of carbolic acid, drank the poison and fell at the officer's feet, expiring soon afterward. Selby had been a sewing machine agent and alleged discrepancies in his accounts amounting to $100 led to his arrest.

IN OCTOBER

Judge Reed Will Take Up the Home
Purchasing Case.

There are a number of demurrers, motions and such things waiting to be filed in the suits against directors of the Home Purchasing company in circuit court here, but Judge W. M. Reed has announced that he will consider nothing whatever in connection with the case until October, when the regular civil term of court begins.

MAIL WAGON DRIVERS.

Go On a Strike in New York and Occasional Much Delay.

New York, Sept. 7.—The drivers of the United States mail wagons in this city struck last night for an increase of wages and to compel the company employing them to abide by the contract between the two parties. A score of them jumped off their wagons when they drove to the Mail street end of the postoffice and quit their jobs.

It is reported that 300 quit at the foot of East Fifteenth street, where New York mail wagons are kept.

The officials had trouble today handling mail in the central business section of the city and automobiles manned by mail clerks and policemen are used to handle the mails between the railway stations and various postoffices. The drivers all want higher wages.

A Texas Matron Gives Birth to Five Children.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 7.—Mrs. John Jackson, of this city, gave birth to five girl babies, all of whom are living. The heaviest weighs five pounds. The mother is seventeen and the father nineteen years old.

BE.

He is Now Believed to Be Crazy—
His Shortage Will Be Paid.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 7.—H. H. Ogden, of this city, who has been going over the books in the Hauptstadt, Ind., State bank for the past two days, stated that the examination would probably be completed soon. Several mistakes have been discovered in the books up to this time, but it is stated most of the mistakes have been in favor of Thebes Farthing, the missing cashier, who mysteriously disappeared from this city last Thursday night.

Friends and relatives of Farthing are still searching for him and a reward will be offered for him. Local officers say they have a trace of Farthing and that they will probably be able to locate him shortly. They say he is several miles from Evansville and that he is undoubtedly insane. A report was current that Farthing was in an Evansville sanitarium for treatment and that at the proper time he will be produced.

E. M. Usher, of Mayfield, Ky., brother-in-law of Farthing, stated that if there is a shortage in the accounts of Farthing his relatives will make it good.

TOWNS RAIDED.

By Rebels in German East Africa, and Destroyed.

Zanzibar, Sept. 7.—Rebels in German East Africa raided and destroyed the towns of Massacra and Mekindani. Missionaries from the university in one town raided were removed to a place of safety.

Jeffries to Referee.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—Nelson last night expressed his willingness to accept any one as referee for the fight with Britt except Billy Roche. Britt declared the fight will take place Saturday and be refereed by Jeffries.

FEVER CASES ARE SLOWLY DECREASING

Fewer New Cases and Deaths
Than for the Days Now.

The District Outside of New Orleans
Worse Than the City Itself, It
Now Seems.

QUARANTINES ARE RELAXING.

Today's Report.
New Orleans, Sept. 7.—Eleven new cases and three deaths were reported up until noon.

Yesterday's Report.
New cases, 31.
New Cases, 2142.
Deaths today, 4.
Total deaths, 928.

A Good Report.
New Orleans, Sept. 7.—Yesterday's record was again a favorable one, with diminishing number of new cases and deaths only slightly above recent days. While new foci continue to appear, they offset by elimination of foci from which there has been no secondary infection during the thirty days set as a minimum limit for the federal authorities.

One in Vicksburg.
Vicksburg, Miss., Sept. 7.—One new case of yellow fever was reported yesterday, making a total of 15. A quarantine guard died of the fever last night.

FOUND HIS WIFE.
But She Escaped Through a Window
and Left Again.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 7.—James Summers, of Kokomo, has been hunting for his pretty wife for a month. He found her in a Muncie restaurant and, aided by the police, got her to consent to return home with him, though she first declared "No, never." She finally consented, went to a hotel with the happy man, but insisted on a separate room, "for a few minutes," and out of the window to freedom from Summers she went. Summers went home disgusted and says he will thrash a Kokomo business man when he gets back to that town. He will not give the man's name though.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS.
Are to Be Connected With the Sanitary Sewerage.

Councilman John Rehkopf last night at the council meeting wanted the school board to connect the sanitary sewerage at the Lee school at Fourth and Ohio, and Jefferson at Eighth and Harrison streets before the sewerage is extended to the High school building.

There are fewer pupils attending Fourth and Ohio, and Jefferson at but the connections should be made and it is assured will be made at once, as soon as the board meets again.

KENTUCKIAN LOST.
Greenup County Man Drowned in the Philippines.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—A cablegram received at the war department announces that Vernon H. Taylor, of Load, Greenup county, Ky., medical inspector in the Philippine constabulary, was drowned in a river in the province of Tarlac. The particulars are not given. Henry Taylor, of Greenup county, has been notified.

JUDGE GUFFY'S SON
Dies at Morgantown From Bronchial Trouble.

Morgantown, Ky., Sept. 7.—Hon. Speed Guffy, one of the most prominent lawyers here, died at 6 last night of acute bronchial poisoning. His death is the first to occur in Judge B. L. D. Guffy's family of nine children.

Had Good Control of Flying Machine.
Columbus, O. Sept. 7.—Roy Knabenshue made another successful flight in his airship today. He had remarkable control of the machine, describing a perfect figure eight six hundred feet above the ground.

TRAINS COLLIDE ON OBION RIVER BRIDGE

Several Trainmen Killed—Engines and Cars Plunge Into River.

ENGINEER ARMSTRONG, OF PADUCAH,
BADLY HURT BUT MAY RECOVER

Body of Brakeman James Lewis Found—Three Others Still Missing.

THE DEAD AND INJURED.
Engineer A. H. Williamson, Memphis, missing.
Fireman W. A. Smith, Paducah, missing.
Brakeman Noah McFadden, colored, Paducah, dead.
Brakeman James Lewis, colored, Fulton, dead.

THE INJURED.
Flagman S. H. Cook, Fulton, back, hips and arms injured, serious.
Engineer J. T. Armstrong, Paducah, internally and otherwise injured, very serious, but believed he will recover.
Fireman W. S. Stevenson, Paducah, back and hip injured, serious.
Alonso Utley, Fort Worth, Texas, trespasser, right leg broken and other injuries.

A head-end freight wreck almost unequalled in the history of the Memphis division of the Illinois Central in loss of life and property, occurred this morning at 2:53 o'clock on Obion river bridge, about three hundred yards south of Obion Station, when freight trains Nos. 151 and the second section of 184 met in the center of the trestle while going at a high rate of speed, and with an awful crash reared high into the air and rolled over into the river.

Several lives were lost, but the bodies of all the victims have not been found. News reached Paducah early this morning, but details of the disaster were meager.

Train 151, south-bound, engine 722, was in charge of Conductor Starr Milam, Paducah, and Engineer J. T. Armstrong, Paducah.

Train No. 184, second section, north-bound, engine 598, was in charge of Conductor C. M. Beams, Memphis and Engineer A. H. Williamson, Memphis.

Obion is 25 miles south of Fulton, Ky., and 95 miles above Memphis, Tenn. The freight had gone only 300 yards beyond the point it should have waited for the other train when they came together on the trestle with terrible force.

Both engines and twelve or thirteen freight cars, together with seven empty coal cars, went over or through into the river, no doubt carrying with them several persons.

Twelve panels of the bridge were carried away, practically destroying the main line for twenty-four hours at that point.

The surviving trainmen immediately carried news of the collision to Obion and rendered what aid they could to the injured.

Wreckers and physicians were sent out as soon as possible, and every effort is being made to open the line again, all trains being detoured in the meantime.

It was reported in Paducah this forenoon that Engineer Armstrong was killed, but a telephone message to the Sun at noon stated that he was thought to be better. His wife went down to Obion on an early train, having been notified of the accident. Engineer Armstrong resides near 24th and Broadway, and has many friends here.

Conductor Starr Milam is a son of the late Dr. M. G. Milam, and son-in-law of Col. R. G. Caldwell. He resides on West Broadway, and escaped serious injury, according to reports.

The missing and injured reside in Fulton, Memphis and Paducah, but the reports do not state where some of them reside.

The block signals are used between Fulton and Memphis, and it is said this afternoon that the operator at Obion let 151 get by him, giving it a clear board. If this is true, the train crew was not to blame, as it did not receive the signal to stop at Obion.

Conductor Milam, it is understood, was recently promoted to a passenger run, but had not taken it on account of the yellow fever situation in the south, where he would have had to take a run.

The Illinois Central sent Dr. J. Q. Taylor, of Paducah, down to attend Engineer Armstrong, and he will probably be brought to the hospital here today.

It will probably require an official investigation to fix the responsibility for the disaster. The official reports of the accident merely state that the 151 went past Obion without orders. It should have waited there for the 184, but it is understood that the train crew claims it got the signal to go on, in which case the fault would lie with the operator.

If the crew had orders to wait at Obion, however, which it is evident, it was expected to do, the blame will rest on the train crew.

The loss of property to the railroad cannot be estimated, as the contents of the cars will be practically ruined, while the damage to the two locomotives, the bridge and the cars will be many thousand dollars.

A telephone message from Obion this afternoon stated that the body of the accident merely state that the 151 went past Obion without orders. It should have waited there for the 184, but it is understood that the train crew claims it got the signal to go on, in which case the fault would lie with the operator.

It is also stated that the blame had not been fixed for the wreck some claiming the train crew, and others the operator at Trimble Tenn., was to blame.

HOTEL MAN DEAD.
And His Widow is Almost Dead From Typhoid Fever.

Glasgow, Ky., Sept. 7.—J. Tom Carter, one of the proprietors of the Murrell House here, and formerly a well known Louisville drummer, died last night of typhoid fever. His widow is barely alive with the same disease.

Foreign Mission Report.
Boston, Sept. 7.—American board of commissioners for foreign missions completed its report. Total receipts for the year $812,149.

Illinois Central and Southern Lease
The Tennessee Central for 99 Years

It is authoritatively announced this afternoon that the Illinois Central and the Southern railroads have leased the Tennessee Central, setting at rest the rumors that have been afloat for several months of the Frisco, and other roads gaining control of the road.

These two big systems today leased the Tennessee Central for a period of ninety-nine years.

The Illinois Central gets the division from Nashville to Hopkinsville, thus securing an entrance into Nashville over its own lines, something it has long sought.

The Southern railroad gets the south division from Nashville, to Harriman, Tenn.

This is one of the most important railroad deals made in this section of the country in several years, and may mean much to this section. Just what its possible effect may be on Paducah and the surrounding territory, however, cannot be predicted at present.

To Build New Russian Fleet.
St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—It is reported that five hundred million roubles are already set aside for the construction of a new Russian fleet.

Streets of Baku Unsafe.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—News from Baku is of the gloomiest character.

Armenian and Tartar warring factions now appear to be entirely beyond control. The streets of Baku are unsafe for inhabitants and troops are inadequate to restrain the anarchical tendencies of the combatants in the surrounding region. According to reliable reports troops have been forced to withdraw from suburb of Balakhany, where, on Tuesday the rioters set fire to the oil works and that place is now in the hands of the Tartars who have completed work of destruction and who, it is said massacred the inhabitants who did not accompany troops in their retirement.

Thousands Greeted Them.

New York, Sept. 7.—Thousands of persons greeted the Russian peace envoys when they arrived at the Grand Central station yesterday afternoon at 5:35.

There was a great demonstration when they left the train and hurried to the Stergis hotel, where they will remain while in this city. Witte, accompanied by Rosen, walked from the train to the carriages, and it was only through great efforts on the part of the police and secret service men that passageway was cleared. Both envoys smiled and doffed their hats continually at cheers of the crowds. The crowd became so great that the party was brought to a standstill, and everyone wanted to shake hands with the two men. Both grasped many hands as they slowly made their way to the sidewalk.

Great Crowd in Boston.

New York, Sept. 7.—The Japanese envoys arrived from Boston last night. Baron Kaneko, Japan's confidential representative here, with his secretary and two score Japanese students, was at the station to greet the envoys. Another great crowd was on hand to cheer the returning plenipotentiaries and secret service men, city detectives and a heavy guard of police had to make a way for the Japanese party.

One of the Final Battles.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—(delayed.)—An official report says: "The Japanese army attacked Russians at Chongtuyang on September 1. The Russian forces consisted of four battalions, six guns, several hundred cavalry. The district was mountainous and difficult, but finally the Japanese artillery successfully attacked the Russian left and occupied their position at nine in the morning. The Russians strongly resisted the west of Chongtuyang, but were forced to retreat at 11. Another Japanese detachment attacked the Russians at Heajienkokai, and pursued them. The Japanese casualties were one officer killed, five officers and sixty men wounded. Russians left forty dead on the field."

SUES PLATT.

Mae Woods Files Suit at Omaha, Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 7.—Mae C. Wood has filed civil suit against Senator Thos. C. Platt, and the United States Express company for $25,000 for alleged services rendered defendants. She alleges that while employed in the postoffice department at Washington she rendered services to defendants by "tipping off" inside workings of the office, and by assisting to keep out of Postmaster General Payne's annual report of May, 1903 recommendation of "post check" system, thus saving the express company several hundred thousand dollars.

Rector Wright Returns.

The Rev. David C. Wright has returned to the city and will resume his services and Sunday school at Grace Episcopal church next Sunday morning. During his absence Mr. Wright took a post-graduate course of studies for ministers at Winona Lake, Ind.

A Good Report.
New Orleans, Sept. 7.—Yesterday's record was again a favorable one, with diminishing number of new cases and deaths only slightly above recent days. While new foci continue to appear, they offset by elimination of foci from which there has been no secondary infection during the thirty days set as a minimum limit for the federal authorities.

One in Vicksburg.
Vicksburg, Miss., Sept. 7.—One new case of yellow fever was reported yesterday, making a total of 15. A quarantine guard died of the fever last night.

FOUND HIS WIFE.
and Left Again.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 7.—James Summers, of Kokomo, has been hunting for his pretty wife for a month. He found her in a Muncie restaurant and, aided by the police, got her to consent to return home with him, though she first declared "No, never." She finally consented, went to a hotel with the happy man, but insisted on a separate room, "for a few minutes," and out of the window to freedom from Summers she went. Summers went home disgusted and says he will thrash a Kokomo business man when he gets back to that town. He will not give the man's name though.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS.
Are to Be Connected With the Sanitary Sewerage.

Councilman John Rehkopf last night at the council meeting wanted the school board to connect the sanitary sewerage at the Lee school at Fourth and Ohio, and Jefferson at Eighth and Harrison streets before the sewerage is extended to the High school building.

There are fewer pupils attending Fourth and Ohio, and Jefferson at but the connections should be made and it is assured will be made at once, as soon as the board meets again.

KENTUCKIAN LOST.

TRAINS COLLIDE ON OBION RIVER BRIDGE

Several Trainmen Killed---Engines and Cars Plunge Into River.

ENGINEER ARMSTRONG, OF PADUCAH,
BADLY HURT BUT MAY RECOVER

Body of Brakeman James Lewis Found---Three Others Still Missing.

THE DEAD AND INJURED.
Engineer A. H. Williamson, Memphis, missing.
Fireman W. A. Smith, Paducah, missing.
Brakeman Noah McFadden, colored, Paducah, dead.
Brakeman James Lewis, colored, Fulton, dead.

THE INJURED.
Flagman S. H. Cook, Fulton, back, hips and arms injured, serious.
Engineer J. T. Armstrong, Paducah, internally and otherwise injured, very serious, but believed he will recover.
Fireman W. S. Stevenson, Paducah, back and hip injured, serious.
Alonzo Utley, Fort Worth, Texas, trespasser, right leg broken and other injuries.

A head-end freight wreck almost unequalled in the history of the Memphis division of the Illinois Central in loss of life and property, occurred this morning at 2:53 o'clock on Obion river bridge, about three hundred yards south of Obion Station, when freight trains Nos. 151 and the second section of 184 met in the center of the trestle while going at a high rate of speed, and with an awful crash reared high into the air and rolled over into the river.

Several lives were lost, but the bodies of all the victims have not been found. News reached Paducah early this morning, but details of the disaster were meager.

Train 151, south-bound, engine 722, was in charge of Conductor Starr Milam, Paducah, and Engineer J. T. Armstrong, Paducah.

Train No. 184, second section, north-bound, engine 598, was in charge of Conductor C. M. Beams, Memphis and Engineer A. H. Williamson, Memphis.

Obion is 25 miles south of Fulton, Ky., and 95 miles above Memphis, Tenn. The freight had gone only 300 yards beyond the point it should have waited for the other train when they came together on the trestle with terrific force.

Both engines and twelve or thirteen freight cars, together with seven empty coal cars, went over or through into the river, no doubt carrying with them several persons.

Twelve panels of the bridge were carried away, practically destroying the main line for twenty-four hours at that point.

The surviving trainmen immediately carried news of the collision to Obion and rendered what aid they could to the injured.

Wreckers and physicians were sent out as soon as possible, and every effort is being made to open the line again, all trains being detoured in the meantime.

It was reported in Paducah this forenoon that Engineer Armstrong was killed, but a telephone message to the Sun at noon stated that he was thought to be better. His wife went down to Obion on an early train, having been notified of the accident. Engineer Armstrong resides near 24th and Broadway, and has many friends here.

Conductor Starr Milam is a son of the late Dr. M. G. Milam, and son-in-law of Col. R. G. Caldwell. He resides on West Broadway, and escaped serious injury, according to reports.

The missing and injured reside in Fulton, Memphis and Paducah, but the reports do not state where some of them reside.

The block signals are used between Fulton and Memphis, and it is said this afternoon that the operator at Obion let 151 get by him, giving it a clear board. If this is true, the train crew was not to blame, as it did not receive the signal to stop at Obion.

Conductor Milam, it is understood, was recently promoted to a passenger run, but had not taken it on account of the yellow fever situation in the south, where he would have had to take a run.

The Illinois Central sent Dr. J. Q. Taylor, of Paducah, down to attend Engineer Armstrong, and he will probably be brought to the hospital here today.

It will probably require an official investigation to fix the responsibility for the disaster. The official reports of the accident merely state that the 151 went past Obion without orders. It should have waited there for the 184, but it is understood that the train crew claims it got the signal to go on, in which case the fault would lie with the operator.

If the crew had orders to wait at Obion, however, which it is evident, it was expected to do, the blame will rest on the train crew.

The loss of property to the railroad cannot be estimated, as the contents of the cars will be practically ruined, while the damage to the two locomotives, the bridge and the cars will be many thousand dollars.

A telephone message from Obion this afternoon stated that the body of the other colored brakeman, Noah McFadden, had been found, and probably the remains of one of the others.

It is also stated that the blame had not been fixed for the wreck some claiming the train crew, and others the operator at Trimble Tenn., was to blame.

Illinois Central and Southern Lease The Tennessee Central for 99 Years

It is authoritatively announced this afternoon that the Illinois Central and the Southern railroads have leased the Tennessee Central, setting at rest the rumors that have been afloat for several months of the Frisco, and other roads gaining control of the road.

These two big systems today leased the Tennessee Central for a period of ninety-nine years.

The Illinois Central gets the division from Nashville to Hopkinsville, thus securing an entrance into Nashville over its own lines, something it has long sought.

The Southern railroad gets the south division from Nashville, to Harriman, Tenn.

This is one of the most important railroad deals made in this section of the country in several years, and may mean much to this section. Just what its possible effect may be on Paducah and the surrounding territory, however, cannot be predicted at present.

PAT CROWE

Has Pistol Duel With Omaha, Neb., Policeman.

Omaha, Sept. 7.—During a fight between a man supposed to be Pat Crowe, the alleged kidnapper of Eddie Cudahy, and three policemen just before midnight Crowe and his companion emptied their revolvers at the officers, wounding Patrolman Jackson.

Crowe escaped, but the officers are hunting him. The fight occurred in a saloon where Crowe and his companion were discovered by Jackson.

For several weeks a number of police have been searching for Crowe who was known to be in the city. Jackson saw a man he believed to be Crowe and a companion in a saloon and sending another officer to summon help, followed the men as they left the saloon. Seeing they were being followed, the two emptied their revolvers at Jackson, one bullet breaking his leg. Other officers who arrived started in pursuit, sending a shower of bullets after the fugitives. The latter, however, escaped, and up to midnight had not been apprehended.

THE STREET WORK MUST NOW PROCEED

Council Refuses to Concur in Board of Works' Recommendation.

The councilmanic board met in adjourned session last night with all members present.

Mayor Yeiser reported that he had vetoed one ordinance—that providing for the sale of a street car franchise. The ordinance had the word "heat" inserted in the title along with "power," "electricity" and "lighting." The motion to sustain the mayor's veto was adopted. Mayor Yeiser stated he had in a great many vetoes during his several terms as mayor, and wanted to thank the board for concurrence in his last veto.

A resolution to have the electric company to correct all resident and store lights as soon as possible, was adopted. This was done at the instance of the board of directors of the railway company.

Mayor Yeiser read a report of the amount in the sinking fund, reporting a total of $13,332 in this fund to date. When he went into office, there was but $600 in this fund. The report was received and filed.

The board ordered 750 yards of dirt taken from Jefferson street, when improved, to be spread on Riverside hospital ground to grade it up.

A petition from residents at 12th and Salem streets for a street light was read and filed.

The recommendation from the board of public works that contractors on Jefferson street and Kentucky avenue be extended time in order that the streets not be impaired during the winter months was presented. Some opposition was met with, Councilman Taylor, Rehkopf, McCarty and McBroom thinking already too much time has been wasted by the contractors. City Engineer Washington stated that the summer months were the best to work in on such jobs and that it would be better to stop the work until spring, that is as far as Fourth on Kentucky avenue and Fifth on Jefferson street.

When the vote was taken the report was turned down. Councilmen Barnett, Gallman, McBroom, Rehkopf, Taylor voting nay.

The board of public works was ordered to make a short fill to the box factory near the Thompson stock yards on Caldwell street.

The board of public works reported that the county had refused at the present, to experiment with oil on the street, but that the board had prepared to carry on the experiment for the city.

A. S. Terrell was granted permission to put up an iron shed in the rear of his stables on South Third street.

Mayor Yeiser read a communication from the board of health, acting in conjunction with the board of education, asking that an ordinance be passed providing for the extension of the sewerage to the High school building. Mayor Yeiser stated he thought the extension should be made and suggested that the board of public works be instructed to have such ordinance drafted.

City Engineer L. A. Washington stated that unless a main sewer was installed, when the property owners could be made to pay part of the cost, that otherwise the expense would fall on the city alone.

The motion to have the extension made to the school house was lost. The motion to refer the matter to the board of public works for a report, was adopted.

A communication from residents and property owners in Rowlandtown to refuse to grant a saloon license to Geo. Colyer was presented by Mayor Yeiser, received and filed.

The report of Auditor Alex Kirkland for the past month was received and filed. It showed a balance on hand Aug. 1st, of $159,238.25, with collections of $5,792.47, making a total debit of $165,030.72; disbursements amounted to $130,617.29, a balance of $130,617.29. The finance committee report for bills salaries, accounts, etc., against the city, was received and filed.

A petition from the Remington Typewriter Co. asking to furnish a typewriter for the city clerk to use in transcribing his records to his order books, and asking permission to bid on furnishing the city with one, was read.

The matter was referred to the finance committee with power to act in buying a machine. City Clerk Bailey has one machine on trial.

Repairs were ordered made to the fill at 15th on Tennessee street.

A motion to repair Sowell street at once for the benefit of school chil-

A bill for $120 costs in suits brought against policemen for acts while in performance of their duty, by chaining prisoners, was allowed; also a bill for $161 against the city for similar suits.

The back tax books were ordered turned over to Solicitor Jas. Campbell, Jr., who is legally back tax collector, with a 50 per cent commission.

A report from the joint finance committee was received and filed. It recommended that the city clerk draw a warrant for amounts, and the treasurer make out the checks for the same.

The following ordinances were acted on:

Ordinance providing for the sale of a franchise for the maintenance of an electric light and street car company to furnish light and electricity in the city of Paducah. First passage.

Ordinance giving the general council the power to quarantine when deemed necessary. First passage.

A petition from property owners to have curbing and pavements from 18th to 25th streets on Jefferson was received, and following this an ordinance was passed on its first reading providing for this improvement.

Ordinance for the grading and graveling of Sowell street from Ashbrook to Hayes avenue. First reading. The work is to be completed the 15th of November.

Ordinance for the curbing and guttering of Elizabeth street from Third to Fourth street. First reading.

Ordinance for grading and graveling of 19th street. Referred back to the committee on account of the technicality in the drafting of the ordinance.

Ordinance providing for the operation of a steam ferry across the city of Paducah and Illinois and for the sale of a franchise for such. The ordinance was referred to the ordinance committee to fill in blanks.

Ordinance prohibiting lewd women from entering saloons. Referred to committee for correction.

The motion to remove a horse fountain from Third and Clark to 12th and Burnett streets, was turned down; also the motion to remove the fountain from Fourth and Broad.

The motion to place a water trough at Broadway and Fountain avenue was adopted.

A petition from L. B. Ragon to do a saloon business at No. 111 South Third street was presented and the license granted.

A petition for a coffee house license for Colyer in Rowlandtown, against which a petition was filed, was turned down. The money was ordered refunded.

The appointment of W. R. Holland as assistant city tax assessor was ratified.

The report of the board of public works on placing street signs in the sewer district, was received and filed. The total expense will amount to something over $600.

On motion of Councilman Rehkopf the joint public committee was ordered to look into the matter and report back.

Prayers from James Bulger and Minnie Russell, for relief from over-assessment, were referred.

It was ordered that sewer connections be put in the Michael building on North Third street. The Michael Bros. are building a new warehouse on this street and no records show collateral connection.

Obstructions on Woodward street, which are interfering with the work of City Engineer Washington, were ordered removed at once.

Councilman Agnew suggested that the mayor and board of public works be instructed to see if 10th street from Broadway to Kentucky avenue could not be opened up. The matter was referred.

A petition from the Remington Typewriter Co. asking to furnish a typewriter for the city clerk to use in transcribing his records to his order books, and asking permission to bid on furnishing the city with one, was read.

The matter was referred to the finance committee with power to act in buying a machine. City Clerk Bailey has one machine on trial.

Repairs were ordered made to the fill at 15th on Tennessee street.

Yucatan Chill Tonic
Perfectly Made
IMPROVED
Positive Cure

Yucatan Chill Tonic
A medicine to produce results must be made right. Tasteless Chill Tonic is not and we will prove it. No two bottles of tasteless tonic have the same amount of medicine, so the dose is uncertain. At least 20 per cent. of the medicine remains in the bottle. A tasteless tonic cannot usually be retained as it upsets the stomach. More potent action. They are more potent than the bitter tonic. Then every time a dose is taken that awful shivering of the bottle. Last, there are no more to take the sicker you get. A medicine that overcomes all these faults is what the people and the profession are looking for. They will find it in Yucatan Chill Tonic. (Imp.) One bottle is worth a dozen of the tasteless kind. Yucatan is the only tonic that drives the malarial germ out of the system. Wonderful results when used in cases of typhoid and malarial fever. Physicians who wish to prescribe this tonic under an ethical name will receive valuable information and literature by addressing:

A petition was read calling the attention of the board to the unsanitary condition of Bradshaw creek in the West End, and asking that the matter be remedied at once. The petition was referred.

A petition from Mr. J. V. Greif to erect a fire proof addition to a building at 316 Washington street, was referred to the city engineer.

The solicitor was ordered to bring in an ordinance extending the fire limits.

The board of public works was requested to bring in a report on repairing an alley between Broadway and Kentucky avenue, Second and Third streets.

On motion the board adjourned.

Theatrical Notes

The performances at Wallace park theater are about over for the season. Saturday it is the intention of Manager Will Malone to disband the stock company and have nothing but the moving pictures during the remainder of the month. The stock company has given great satisfaction during the summer, and the members have made many friends here. Alvin Kelly and Nellie Granville have already gone to Chicago, and Hugh Livingston and Nellie Swearington go there after this week. Charles Murphy and Franklin Hall go to Kansas City. Manager Malone has made no plans for the winter.

"The Woman in the Case," Clyde Fitch's most successful play which has just closed its second engagement in New York will be seen on the local stage in the near future. The New York production will be carried complete. The company will include Miss Margaret Bennett, who played the title role in "The Heart of Maryland," for many seasons, Thomas Coffin Cook, Robert Sanford, Katherine Morse, Kirk Allen and other noted players.

The following from the Cairo Bulletin will be of interest in Paducah, where "Blind Joe" is well known: "Blind Joe Mangum, the noted violinist who has made Cairo his headquarters for sometime, will leave Cairo in a few days for St. Louis, where he will play the Columbia theater this winter."

The Eaton Lumber Co. et. al., against The Steamer Charleston. In admiralty.

Pursuant to an order of the United States District Court for the Western District of Kentucky at Paducah, entered on the 30th day of August, 1905, in the above styled actions, I will on Wednesday, September 13, 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the port of Paducah, Ky., sell to the highest bidder for one-half cash in hand, the balance on a credit of three months, with 6 per cent. interest from date until paid; purchaser to give bond with approved security, having the force and effect of a replevin bond at law, payable to the clerk of this court at Paducah, Ky., or the purchaser may pay the entire purchase price in cash if he so chooses—the steamer Charleston, her engines, tackle, apparel, furniture, etc., to satisfy the claims in the above actions.

A WORD TO REPUBLICANS.

Republicans are everywhere, of course, concerned in civic betterment, says the Louisville Herald. In some places the party, or prominent members of it identify themselves with propositions looking to municipal ownership. There is something fasci-inating in the idea of municipal ownership; something in it that, under ideal conditions, social, economical and political appeals to common sense. But in the absence of such conditions, municipal ownership must many steps between practice and theory on which the government must stumble." For the perpetuation of one political party in power and the promotion of revolution and anarchy, public ownership is, in truth, the correct system. But if we look to Europe or South America for precedents the plan is faulty. "This is particularly so in a country that is," says Mr. Caracristi, "supposed to be governed by the people, where every act of a public official is weighed not by its real merits, but by the effect that such an act will have on the individual official and the party to which he belongs. Should this not be a fact there would not exist reason for the interneine wars that we mercifully call strikes, but in other countries are called revolutions."

Would not, in fact, political parties in charge of the enormous patronage of public utilities use it to perpetuate themselves in power, and thus establish dictatorships and absolutism?

TELEPHONE COMPETITION.

The question of competing telephones is one which has attracted the attention of many cities beside

Paducah with results on lines indicating that a dual telephone service is not helpful, and in many cases quite unprofitable to those who invested in the securities of competing lines. The following from the Detroit Free Press, one of the leading and most reliable newspapers in the West, indicates the situation in the city of Detroit and other points throughout the state of Michigan:

"The telephone occupies a unique position on the field of public utilities. Unlike other commercial necessities, competition does not guarantee cheapness. On the contrary, while the advent of a new company may force from the one already in the field a reduction in rates, if the former succeeds in acquiring any considerable amount of business the merchant is compelled to install both instruments. This brings the aggregate amount expended for rental up to a higher point than that required before competition appeared, and serves only to complicate matters.

"The value of telephone service depends upon the territory with which it places the subscriber in communication. If the company which has for so many years controlled the field in Michigan provides adequate service there is little possibility of a new comer capturing a sufficient amount of trade to make it profitable. The man who already possesses direct connection with the entire state is not going to assume the expense of adding another service. It is this fact that has kept the Co-operative Telephone Co. in the background. That the efforts of the promoters have not met with the anticipated degree of success is not to the discredit of the men instrumental in bringing the concern into existence. They have merely been victims of circumstances, and have learned a lesson which other venturesome spirits in the same field became familiar with long ago."

The Spanish war veterans of Louisville have put on foot a movement to secure the farm on which Abraham Lincoln was born in Larue county, as a national park. The recent purchaser, R. J. Collier, of New York, is willing to turn the historic spot over to some organization for the purpose, and it is likely the project will be a success, and Lincoln's birthplace in Kentucky become a spot of many attractions.

Judging from the leisurely manner in which street improvements have been made in Paducah in the past, it is now time to begin to prepare to get ready to start next year's work. It will soon be two years since the street improvement bonds were voted, and still only a few blocks of the reconstruction have been completed.

A long delay confronts the state in building the new capitol at Frankfort unless the kind of granite specified in the contract is changed. Good granite comes from many places, and it is to be hoped the capitol commission will make the necessary provision to proceed with the work.

Some of the Japs judging from their boisterous conduct, are not as fully convinced of the liberality and magnanimity of Japan as we are over here. The world has kindly called it generosity, but it seems to look to many of the Japanese like a back-down.

Forty arrests were made in Louisville during the past year for murder, and 279 for malicious cutting. The papers modestly refrain from stating the number of convictions.

If President Roosevelt keeps a scrap book of all the good things said about him, the white house may soon have to be enlarged to take care of the rapidly increasing volumes.

CHURCHMEN GATHER.

For the Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

Covington, Ky., Sept. 7.—The Kentucky conference of the M. E. Church, South, opened at Scott-street M. E. church in Covington. Bishop Candler presided. Instead of Bishop Smith, who is ill. The opening sermon was of uncommon fervor and eloquence. Today's work will be mainly the appointment of committees and work of organization.

Among the prominent divines here are Rev. Dr. P. H. Whisner, corresponding secretary of church extension, of Louisville; Rev. Dr. Seth Ward, missionary secretary, Nashville, Tenn.; Rev. Dr. John J. Tigert, book editor, Nashville, Tenn.; Rev. Dr. H. William Dubose, editor and secretary Epworth League, Covington; Rev. H. C. Morrison, editor of Pentecostal Herald, Louisville; Rev. B. F. Haynes, president Asbury College, Wilmore; Dr. J. L. Weber, president Kentucky Wesleyan College, Winchester; Prof. D. W. Watson, editor Central Methodist, Louisville; Rev. Dr. W. F. Tillett, dean of Theological Faculty of Vanderbilt University, Nashville.

Among the prominent laymen present is Appellate Court Judge F. C. O'Rear, Frankfort.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE.

Will Hereafter Hold Its Annual Meetings at Owensboro.

Owensboro Ky., Sept. 7.—A contract has been signed between the executive officers of the Baptist Young People's Union of Kentucky and President James H. Parrish and Superintendent W. G. Archer, of the Seven Hills Chautauqua company, by which the annual meetings of the former organizations are to be held in connection with the chautauqua assemblies of the latter. The agreement was entered into during the recent chautauqua assembly, but the contract was not formally signed until Monday, when Messrs. Archer and Parrish went to Louisville to meet the officers of the Baptist Young People's Union.

The holdings of the annual meetings here will necessitate a longer chautauqua term. The B. Y. P. U. conventions usually cover nearly a week when held separately. The chautauqua term will likely be lengthened to three weeks. The morning sessions of the first week will likely be devoted exclusively to the work of the B. Y. P. U.

SPLIT IN CHURCH.

Likely to Result From Request of Pastor to Resign.

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 7.—Rev. E. B. Barnes, of the First Christian church announced at a special meeting that the official board of the church had asked him to resign. No reason was given except "the good of the church."

He refused to resign, and charged C. W. Granger and Edward Forsythe, of the board, with conspiring to remove him. He insisted on these men being removed, and announced that he would file a charge against Mr. Granger. He called a special meeting of the board and congregation, but the board refused to meet. Fifty members condemned the action of the board because it did not consult the congregation. The trouble is likely to result in a split in the church membership.

Knocks Out Indiana Marriage Law.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 7.—Judge Milford, of the Fountain circuit court, has ruled that if the bride-elect is of legal age a marriage license must be issued, though she has not been a resident of the county thirty days, as provided in the old law, not repealed by the new one, and which was intended to prevent elopements. The clerk refused a license for Charles Tannev, of Evansville, aged 37, and Martha Price, of Brazil, aged 24, but after the court overruled the clerk, they were married.

Parish House Almost Complete.

Grace church parish house is nearly complete and will be ready for occupancy about October 1. It is expected that Bishop Woodcock will come to Paducah for the formal opening of the building.

Anybody who tries to kill time is sure to be killed by it sooner or later.

THIRD TERM TALK

ABOUT WASHINGTON

It is Likely Pressure on President Will be Great.

He is the Great Hero of the People at Present and His Popularity Will Last.

MAYBE HE CANNOT REFUSE

PROSPEROUS YEAR EXPECTED

Washington, Sept. 7.—Those politicians who have watched the trend of political events during the past few weeks, and especially during the days since the president brought about the peace compact between Russia and Japan, are somewhat inclined to believe that the outcome of the discussion surrounding the selection of a nominee at the next Republican national convention will be the renomination of President Roosevelt.

While it is admitted that much of the enthusiasm now surrounding the action of President Roosevelt is ephemeral and comes as a part of the natural enthusiasm of the American people, it is likewise admitted that the trend of events is toward his selection, and that the only obstacle which probably stands in the way is a refusal upon his part to accept. It is said that Mr. Roosevelt can hardly get away from the statement which he made on the night of his election last November, in which he used these words:

"On the 4th of March next I shall have served three and one-half years, and this three and one-half years constitutes my first term. The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form. Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

The statement was accepted as definite and final, but at that time there was no anticipation of those events which have come since, and which now bid fair to place the president in a position where a refusal of renomination will be difficult if not almost impossible. The question now is, whether out of the great enthusiasm throughout the country and a demand which may become almost unanimous, he can refuse to accept a nomination which the people so strongly demand. Close friends of the president say that when the time arrives for an expression of opinion from him, he will be quick to state his position clearly, and, while admitting the high compliment which has been paid, will refuse to do else than abide by the statement which he made following his last election.

AFTER TEN YEARS.

An Indiana Man Finds Happiness and a Bride.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Ely Cunningham, of Marion, Ind., had a story of disappointment which culminated in success today.

Ten years ago Cunningham and Leona Greenbaum were courting a young woman of Marion. Greenbaum won, and brought his bride to Chicago. He died three years ago and then Cunningham urged the widow to marry him. She told him to wait two years, and if he loved her at the end of that time she would wed him.

The two years were up today, according to Cunningham, and he came to Chicago to claim a bride. Clerk Salmonson gave Cunningham a license to marry Mrs. Augusta Greenbaum, and within three minutes Justice Arn with offices in the County Clerk's office, performed the ceremony.

Called Meeting.

Of the Council Was Held This Morning to Pass Three Ordinances.

The councilmanic board met this morning in special session to pass three ordinances.

They were all given second passage. They are: Ordinance providing for the sale of a franchise for power and lighting plant, ordinance for the improvement of Sowell street which runs to the new Mechanicsburg school, and ordinance providing that the city shall establish a quarantine when deemed necessary. No other matters were acted on.

United Typothetae Meets.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The United Typothetae of America yesterday discussed the demand of printers for an eight-hour day. The convention is solidly opposed to the demand. A telegram was received which announced that President Lynch and Vice-President Hayes, of the International Typographical union will meet in Niagara today. It was resolved that courtesies of the convention will be extended them when they arrive.

JURY TOOK NEECE CASE AT NOON TODAY

He is Charged With Shooting and Killing a Neighbor.

Case Was Began Yesterday and Finished and Argued by Noon
Today.

THE NEWS IN OTHER COURTS

The case against Rufe Neece, colored, charged with the murder of Jesse Ingram, colored, near Oaks Station on the N. C. and St. L. road last December, went to the jury today at noon, after having been on trial since yesterday morning.

This was the first regular criminal jury case to be tried this term and there were about twenty witnesses in the case which made it long and drawn out. Neece alleges that Ingram advanced on him with a rock making repeated threats on his life, and that he, while running, shot at Ingram and killed him in self-defense. The first speech was made by Attorney J. Wheeler Campbell for the defense and the closing speech made by Commonwealth Attorney John Lovett.

Will McClure colored, for trespass, was fined $25 and costs.

Sues For Divorce.

Alonzo Thoma sues Zule Thoma for divorce, alleging infidelity. The petition recites that they were married May, 1901, and that she abandoned him in June, 1902, and left for unknown parts with another man.

Released From Jail.

Parrish Jones, who had been in jail a month or longer waiting to be tried for larceny, was yesterday afternoon released by Jailor Fayette Jones, as the prisoner seemed to be all right and no steps were ever taken to try him.

Two Are Ill.

Deputy Marshal G. W. Saunders has returned from Livingston and Crittenden counties, where he went to serve papers on W. H. Mann, C. S. Knight and W. L. Kennedy, summoning them to appear before Judge Walter Evans, of the federal court at Louisville tomorrow and show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of court by working a mine that they were ordered not to work pending the settlement of a case. Mann and Kennedy live at Lola, and are both sick in bed and will probably be unable to attend court.

New Orleans Detectives Grateful.

Chief of Police James Collins has received from New Orleans a letter from Inspector of Police E. S. Whitaker, thanking the entire Paducah police and detective force for the courtesies shown the two New Orleans detectives here recently after Walter Coleman. Thanks are also extended Acting Judge D. A. Cross, Prosecuting Attorney Thomas Harrison and County Attorney Eugene Graves, and the New Orleans man declares that his detectives, Messrs. Kenner and Stubbs, say they never visited a more hospitable place than Paducah.

Was Released at Ripley.

Walter Williams, colored, arrested here several months ago for carrying concealed weapons at Ripley, Tenn., and given a heavy sentence, has been pleased and returned to Paducah. He was given his freedom in compliance with a petition to Gov. Cox, of Tennessee, from Paducah officers who did not think Williams deserved such a heavy sentence.

Police Court.

Police Judge D. L. Sanders, who yesterday resumed his bench after a several weeks' absence on account of illness, had a short docket today.

Wesley Davis, colored, who is alleged to have stolen brass from the I. C., was held over for petty larceny.

Other cases were: Riley Pittman, white, drunkenness, $1 and costs; W. D. Berger white drunk, $1 and costs; Sandy Overby and Robert Greer, colored, breach of the peace, $3 and costs against Overby and $1 and costs against Greer.

MOTION MADE

To Dissolve the Evitts Injunction Against Aldermen.

This morning attorneys for the city in the case of City Jailor Tom Evitts against D. A. Yeiser, mayor of the city of Paducah, and members of the board of aldermen, filed a motion for the court to set aside and dissolve the temporary writ of prohibition because of the fact that the plaintiff did not on the second day of the present term make a motion for a permanent writ, this being one agreement made by the plaintiff in securing the temporary writ.

This is the case where the circuit Judge issued a temporary writ of prohibition against the mayor and board of aldermen to keep them from trying charges brought against the city jailer for conduct unbecoming a city official.

Judge Reed stated this afternoon that he had nothing more to do with the case of Evitts against Yeiser where he granted a temporary writ of prohibition to keep the board of aldermen from trying City Jailor Evitts for conduct unbecoming an officer. He stated that it was "up to the parties in the suit."

RURAL ROUTES IN KENTUCKY.

State Has 580 in Operation With Petitions for 193 Pending.

Washington, Sept. 7.—A bulletin issued today by the postoffice department shows that on September 1, there were 580 rural routes in operation in Kentucky, and 193 petitions for additional routes were pending. The Eleventh is the only district in Kentucky that has no rural routes, and twenty petitions from that district are pending seven having been rejected. In the country at large 32,927 rural routes were in operation, September 1, with 4,780 petitions pending. Kentucky ranks seventeenth in the Union in the number of its rural routes Illinois leading, with Indiana, Iowa and Ohio each having over 2,000 routes.

Sad Case of Destitution.

Hartford City, Ind. Sept. 7.—Huddled together in West Main street is a mother with a broken leg and four small children. They spent all of last night on the street, after being ejected from their home by the sheriff on the order of a landlord. She is Mrs. Joseph Carvel, and her husband is in jail. The mother and children are standing guard over their scanty household goods, and another night will be spent in the street.

Joseph Carvel, the husband, is a glass worker who commands a large salary during the winter months, but this summer he deserted his wife, and shortly afterward she fell and broke her leg. Rent became due and she was unable to pay.

Many See Peanuts Grow.

Real peanuts growing in profusion is a river front attraction that probably cannot be found anywhere else in the city. The peanuts fall on the ground in the rear of the peanut factory at First and Washington streets, and sprout, and many of them are growing rapidly and have well developed peanuts beneath the sandy surface. It is claimed that peanuts would grow well in this climate if an fort were made to grow them.

Willis Trial to Be Finished Today.

The case against Lawrence Willis, the young Cadiz boy charged with the murder of his uncle, Lieut. William Johnson, will be finished this afternoon, according to a telephone message from Hon. TENNESSEE STREET

Is to Be Improved With Sidewalks and Gutters.

Mr. Robert Richardson, draughtsman in the office of City Engineer L. A. Washington, today completed plans for the improving of Tennessee street from 12th to 13th streets, by paving and guttering.

This work had been delayed by the fact that property owners differed for awhile as to what material should be used. It was finally decided to use granitoid material for both gutters and pavements.

Bowser Has A Surprise

His Mother-in-law Appears Just as He Takes the Bit In His Teeth.

RAILING AT HIS WIFE.

Things Are All Going His Way
When He Receives a Severe Check.

[Copyright, 1905, by Robert McClure.]
SEVERAL things had happened during the day to upset Mr. Bowser, and on the car going home at night a man had not only stepped on his toes, but advised him to sandpaper his bald head. There was no one to take it out on except Mrs. Bowser, and she saw at once as he entered the house that he meant to do it.

"Is that infernal dinner ready?" he demanded as he took off his overcoat. "Our usual 6 o'clock dinner is ready," she quietly replied.

"Well, it's a good thing it is or that girl would get the bounce. From now on this house will be run as a house instead of a sawmill or I'll know the reason why."

"What is wrong with my way of running the house?"

"What is wrong? A thousand things are wrong. Mrs. Bowser, you and I are going to have a talk after dinner—a straight, plain talk."

"I thought you said we might go to the church festival this evening."

"Church festival be hanged! We are more apt to go to the poorhouse."

Mrs. Bowser had no more to say and Mr. Bowser felicitated himself that he had made a proper beginning. If he had only been a little more observing and noticed the smile playing around the corners of her mouth it would have been better for him later on. When dinner was finished and they had returned to the sitting room he assumed his most judicial demeanor and began:

"As I stopped at the gate for a moment this evening I observed that one of the panes in a front window was broken. It was all right when I left the house this morning. Some time during the day you sneaked up there with an ax or crowbar and gave it a bat. You did it to spite me."

"You are talking foolishly, Mr. Bowser."

"I am talking facts, woman. As I entered the gate I stumbled over a clothespin. While it was only a single one it showed the carelessness and waste prevailing in this house. You probably threw it from a window at a dog."

"As there is a foot of snow on our sidewalk and more falling, I don't see how you stumbled over such a small thing as a clothespin," observed Mrs. Bowser.

"There are lots of things you don't observe, and you needn't try to split hairs with me. I presume the gas bill for last month has come in?"

"Yes."

"And we are charged with burning about a million feet of gas?"

"The bill is only 50 cents higher than for the month before."

"Only 50 cents! By the great horn spoon, woman, but it ought to have been $2 less! Who has wasted that gas? Who has deliberately gone at it and turned it on in the daytime and let it whiz away?"

"No one, of course. I must tell you that the coal for the range is out. It lasted four days longer than the last ton, but I suppose you—"

"The range coal all gone?" he whooped as he jumped up and down and his eyes hung out. "Why, it's only ten days since I ordered the last ton!"

"It's exactly twenty-seven days, my dear."

"Don't 'my dear' me. A ton of coal burned in my kitchen in ten days! Ten days! Mrs. Bowser, don't try to fool me. You sold at least half that coal to get money to attend bargain sales. You may deny it, but nothing on earth will convince me that you didn't. Great Scott, sell the coal out of my cellar to buy fummiddlies!"

"I say the coal has lasted twenty-seven days, Mr. Bowser, and you are talking nonsense. You might as well charge the cook with eating it. There's a leak in a water pipe down cellar, and are you going to say I struck it with the ax?"

"A leak in a water pipe! Of course you struck it! Yes, sir, you couldn't see any other way to spite me, and so you whacked away at the pipe with the ax. By John, but I don't know what prevents me from demolishing this house and murdering three or four people! A water pipe burst, and $50 to pay out for repairs!"

"Don't water pipes ever burst?" quietly replied Mrs. Bowser.

"Never! Never in this world! Water pipes are all right until some one hauls off with an ax and bursts them. I suppose you'll tell me next that the roof of this house is leaking in a dozen places."

"I discovered two leaks yesterday, but they are not very bad ones. I can put pans on the floor to catch the water."

"Leaks in the roof! Forty leaks in a roof that was overhauled only last summer! Woman, do you know where you stand?"

"What do you mean?"

"You are standing in the shadow of death! You have gone up on that roof and jumped up and down. You have played tag and pull-away. You have turned somersaults and handsprings. You have taken the crowbar and thumped and pounded. You have done all this to spite me, and by the bones of the one horned cow—"

"Are you through, Lemuel Bowser?"

Mr. Bowser turned to find his mother-in-law standing in the door. She had arrived home before, but had kept in the background to make a dramatic debut.

"What! You—you here?" gasped Mr. Bowser as the red left his face in an instant.

"Yes, Lemuel, I am here, and I have been an interested listener. Sit down!"

"What for?"

"Because I tell you, I've got a few words to say to you, and perhaps your knees won't wobble quite so much if you sit down. Now, then, about that clothespin. You lied about it simply to have an excuse to raise a row."

"Woman, don't you call me a liar!"

"Don't excite yourself and don't call me a woman. I am your respected mother-in-law, and as such I can't be bullied or bulldozed."

"I won't stay in the same house with you!" exclaimed Mr. Bowser as he jumped up.

"Oh, yes, you will. You and I have got to have a plain, straight talk, and the sooner we get at it the better. I figured that it was about time for one of your spells, and so I got aboard of the train and came down. If you think you could talk better with a pillow behind your back well and good, but talk you must. You know me, don't you?"

"You bet I know you!"

"Then no further introductions are necessary. Mr. Bowser, do you realize that you are one of the meanest old kippers on the face of this earth?"

"What! What!"

"Don't shout at me. You may scare the cat or the cook, but I'm not made that way. You know that pane of glass was cracked four weeks ago by a boy throwing a snowball, but you seized upon it tonight as a pretext. Do you know what I'd have done if you had come bulldozing to me about it?"

"I say I won't listen!"

"And I say you will! If you'd come charging me with breaking that glass I'd have taken the shine off that bald head of yours in about a minute. What you need is a strong hand, and it's fortunate that I have got one. No use for you to glare at me like an enraged bull, for I don't scare. Where are you going?"

"I'm going to leave the house until you get gone!"

"Lemuel Bowser, come back here!"

But Mr. Bowser got his overcoat and hat and was outdoors before she could reach him. He didn't know where to go after he got out, but five minutes later he brought up at a drug store on the corner. He wanted sympathy. He wanted to tell the druggist all about it and be consoled, and he had just got ready to talk when in walked the mother-in-law. There was no hesitation on her part. She walked up to Mr. Bowser and took him by the hand and said:

"Lemuel, come with me!"

"I'll be hanged if I do!" he growled.

"You'll either come along with me or follow me in the ambulance!"

"That's what he needs—a strong hand," said the druggist as he nodded approval.

The family cat had followed the mother-in-law. Under the sky of a winter's night, side by side and holding hands, walked Mr. Bowser and his conqueror, and behind them followed the wonderful feline, and when the procession had reached a well known gate it turned in, opened the door, and a moment later what was happening there was hidden from all outside eyes.

Mr. Robertson Loses Another Deer.

Mr. George Robertson lost another one of his fine deer last night. The deer was at Mr. Robertson's residence at Ninth and Broadway, and Mr. Robertson caught it by using a fish net. He carried the deer down to Third and Harrison and turned him in a larger enclosure. Here the deer ran himself to death. Recently a fine large buck jumped the fence at Mr. Robertson's home and ran until it fell dead from exhaustion. Two or three of the animals have been killed by dogs.

KENTUCKY NEWSLETS

Owensboro Murder Case.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 7.—J. M. Holmes, who fifty-three years ago served on the jury which condemned Curtis Richardson to be hanged for the murder of William Lanier, was today selected as a juror in the trial of Willis Russell Shikles, charged with the murder of Henry Murmer.

Mr. Holmes is now an octogenarian, but is nearly as hale as when he wrote the death verdict more than half a century ago. Until Tuesday night Mr. Holmes had not slept away from his home for a number of years. Shikles' defense is moral irresponsibility. The defense introduced a number of witnesses, most of them from Allen county, where the defendant was reared, who testified that Shikles had been half-witted all his life, and that when irritated he had no control of himself. Shikles killed Murmer apparently without provocation. He went where Murmer was at work in his field. Murmer left his team and retreated. Shikles followed him for 100 yards, and then shot him down. He had borrowed the gun from a neighbor, stating that he wanted to shoot crows.

Shot and Killed By Brother.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 7.—"Cash" Clubb, one of the wealthiest men in Henry county, was shot and killed by his brother, Coswell, a hotel proprietor of Pleasureville, Ky.

The murdered man is 60 years old and his brother 48. The brothers had some difficulty over money matters, but their friends attribute the shooting to mind derangement rather than the disagreement over finances. The tragedy took place at Pleasureville.

Indictment Stolen.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 7.—When the case of Robert Hazel, indicted for perjury in the trial of John R. T. Barbour for the murder of Francis Hagan, was called at Shepherdsville yesterday a sensation was caused by the discovery that the indictment had been stolen. The clerk reported that it was taken Sunday night.

Judge Jones immediately ordered a special grand jury empaneled to return another indictment that Hazel may be tried this week. He swore that he saw Barbour shoot Hagan, but afterwards admitted that he did not.

Boy Killed.

Madisonville, Ky., Sept. 7.—The 14-year-old son of W. H. King, James King, met a tragic death at Bassett's sawmill in this county. The boy was punching a rip saw with a scantling when he lost his grip and the piece of wood was hurled against his chest causing death in a few minutes. The family of the unfortunate boy recently came from Christian county.

Entirely Recovered.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 7.—A special from Lebanon, Ky., says Bishop John L. Spalding of the Catholic diocese of Peoria, has entirely recovered from his recent attack of indigestion. The report that he suffered another stroke of paralysis is denied.

Presence of Glanders.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 7.—Because of the presence of glanders among horses the fiscal court has ordered that the use of all public drinking troughs in the city be discontinued to prevent the spread of the disease.

Given a Life Sentence.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 7.—Willis Shikles, formerly of Allen county, was given a life sentence in the penitentiary for the murder of Henry Murmer, a farmer. Shikles went to the field where Murmer was at work and shot him down without a word, after borrowing a gun with which to do the deed. The jury was out forty minutes.

Texas Lands Very Cheap

The Houston & Texas Central Ry. Co. has decided to sell its land grant in Northwest Texas, adjoining Oklahoma. To effect a quick sale and avoid the expense of maintaining sales agencies, the lands have been listed at very low prices.

They are adjacent to the Rock Island main line running diagonally across Oklahoma and Texas. Portions of the tract are well watered and nearly all is susceptible of cultivation. Transportation facilities excellent—big markets within easy reach.

The Return of SHERLOCK HOLMES

By A. CONAN DOYLE

Author of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" "The Hound of the Baskervilles" "The Sign of the Four" "A Study in Scarlet," Etc.

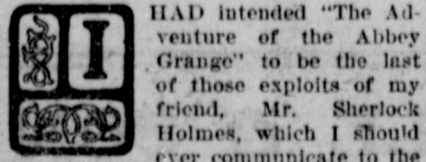

ILLUSTRATED BY F. D. STEELS

The Adventure of the Second Stain

No. 13 of the Series

(Copyright, 1905, by A. Conan Doyle, Publisher's Weekly and McClure, Phillips & Co.)

HAD intended "The Adventure of the Second Stain" to be the last of those exploits of my friend, Mr. Sherlock Holmes, which I should ever communicate to the public. This resolution of mine was not due to any lack of material, since I have notes of many hundreds of cases to which I have never alluded, nor was it caused by any waning interest on the part of my readers in the singular personality and unique methods of this remarkable man. The real reason lay in the reluctance which Mr. Holmes has shown to the continued publication of his experiences. So long as he was in actual professional practice the records of his successes were of some practical value to him, but since he has definitely retired from London and taken himself to study and be farming on the Sussex downs, notoriety has become hateful to him, and he has peremptorily requested that his wishes in this matter should be strictly observed. It was only upon my representing to him that I had given a promise that "The Adventure of the Second Stain" should be published when the times were ripe and pointing out to him that it is only appropriate that this long series of episodes should culminate in the most important international case which he has ever been called upon to handle that I at last succeeded in obtaining his consent that a carefully guarded account of the incident should at last be laid before the public.

It was, then, in a year, even in a decade that shall be nameless, that upon one Tuesday morning in autumn we found two visitors of European fame within the walls of our humble room in Baker street. The one, austere, high nosed, eagle eyed and dominant, was none other than the illustrious Lord Bellingham, twice premier of Britain. The other, dark, clean cut and elegant, hardly yet of middle age and endowed with every virtue of body and of mind, was the Right Hon. Trelawney Hope, secretary for European affairs and the most rising statesman in the country. They sat side by side upon our paper littered settee, and it was easy to see from their worn and anxious faces that it was business of the most pressing importance which had brought them.

The premier's thin, blue veined hands were clasped tightly over the ivory head of his umbrella, and his gaunt, ascetic face looked gloomily from Holmes to me. The European secretary pulled nervously at his mustache and flattered with the seals of his watch chain.

"When I discovered my loss, Mr. Holmes, which was at 8 o'clock this morning, I at once informed the prime minister. It was at his suggestion that we have both come to you."

"Have you informed the police?"

"No, sir," said the prime minister, with the quick, decisive manner for which he was famous. "We have not done so, nor is it possible that we should do so. To inform the police must, in the long run, mean to inform the public. This is what we particularly desire to avoid."

"And why, sir?"

"Because the document in question is of such immense importance that its publication might very easily— I might almost say probably—lead to European complications of the utmost moment. It is not too much to say that peace or war may hang upon the issue. Unless the recovery can be attended with the utmost secrecy then it may as well not be recovered at all, for all that is aimed at by those who have taken it is that its contents should be generally known."

"I understand. Now, Mr. Trelawney Hope, I should be much obliged if you would tell me exactly the circumstances under which this document disappeared."

"That can be done in a very few words, Mr. Holmes. The letter—for it was a letter from a foreign potentate—was received six days ago. It was of such importance that I have never left it in my safe, but I have taken it across each evening to my house in Whitehall terrace and kept it in my bedroom in a locked dispatch box. It was there last night. Of that I am certain. I actually opened the box while I was dressing for dinner and saw the document inside. This morning it was gone. The dispatch box had stood beside the glass upon my dressing table all night. I am a light sleeper, and so is my wife. We are both prepared to swear that no one could have entered the room during the night, and yet I repeat that the paper is gone."

"What time did you dine?"

"Half past 7."

"How long was it before you went to bed?"

"My wife had gone to the theater. I waited up for her. It was half past 11 before we went to our room."

"Then for four hours the dispatch box had lain unguarded?"

"No one is ever permitted to enter that room save the housemaid in the morning and my valet or my wife's maid during the rest of the day. They are both trustworthy servants and have been with us for some time. Besides, neither of them could possibly have known that there was anything more valuable than the ordinary departmental papers in my dispatch box."

"Who did know of the existence of that letter?"

"No one in the house."

"Surely your wife knew?"

"No, sir. I had said nothing to my wife until I missed the paper this morning."

The premier nodded approvingly.

"I have long known, sir, how high is your sense of public duty," said he. The European secretary bowed.

"You do me no more than justice, sir. Until this morning I have never breathed one word to my wife upon this matter."

"Could she have guessed?"

"No, Mr. Holmes, she could not have guessed, nor could any one have guessed."

"Have you lost any documents before?"

"No, sir."

"Who is there in England who did know of the existence of this letter?"

"Each member of the cabinet was informed of it yesterday, but the pledge of secrecy which attends every cabinet meeting was increased by the solemn warning which was given by the prime minister. Good heavens, to think that within a few hours I should myself have lost it! Besides the members of the cabinet there are two or possibly three departmental officials who know of the letter. No one else in England, Mr. Holmes, I assure you."

"But abroad?"

"I believe that no one abroad has seen it save the man who wrote it. I am well convinced that his ministers—that the usual official channels have not been employed."

Holmes considered for some little time.

"Now, sir, I must ask you more particularly what this document is, and why its disappearance should have such momentous consequences?"

The two statesmen exchanged a quick glance, and the premier's shaggy eyebrows gathered in a frown.

"Mr. Holmes, the envelope is a long, thin one of pale blue color. There is a

W. H. Harrison, Cleveland, Miss., writes, Aug. 15, 1902: "I want to say a word of praise for Ballard's Snow Liniment. I stepped on a nail, which caused the cords in my leg to contract and an abscess to rise in my knee, and the doctor told me that I would have a stiff leg, so one day I went to J. F. METROPOLIS NEWS

After being out for thirty hours the jury in the case of O. L. Margrave, of Brookport, for damages against the I. C. railroad brought in a verdict giving Mr. Margrave $300. The suit came about through the railway company building a track over some ground of Mr. Margrave's using a Sunday for the purpose. Mr. Margrave first sued out an injunction asking that the court restrain the company from trespassing on his ground. This was finally made permanent and later Mr. Margrave sued for damages.

STRANGE OUTFIT

A "CIRCUS" ARRIVES AND REMAINS TO MAKE MONEY TO CROSS THE RIVER.

It Has a Few Horses, Several Dogs, a Goat and Four Human Beings.

A number of people noticed several wagons of delapidated though somewhat gaudy appearance pass down Jefferson street several days ago but few knew what it was. An investigation revealed the fact that it was a circus outfit. The paraphernalia did justice to the old one-ring circus which used to travel across the country, using the animals that did "stunts" in the ring also to haul the wagons and tent through the country.

In this aggregation here there were four people, six dogs, one goat and six mules and horses. In a wagon of old pattern were the performing dogs, which according to the people on the street, performed with their mouths rather than with their bodies and animal sense. At the river the goat which was in the cage with the dogs, was seen to begin acting peculiar and suddenly amid the barking, howlings, snappings and whining of the dogs a different sound was heard. The goat tired of inactivity, had endeavored to help the dogs out and amid the laughter of those near, produced a sound not like, but akin to the bark of a dog. Thus the procession moved along.

To the first wagon was a cow and a small mule, to the second was a large mule and a small pony, and to the third was a mule of miniature size and a large horse. The mule to the last wagon had a neck that was terribly twisted and on asking a reporter was told by the manager of the circus that the mule had fallen several years ago and had broken its neck. Anyway the neck, he said, was a popular drawing card to the circus.

Two small boys, a woman, and the man, who ran first from one team to another to see that they did not get lost, made up the "actors" of the company. Many people would be surprised to learn that these circuses often are largely patronized by the rural populace.

The only reason the aggregation lingered here, it is said, is that it found upon reaching Paducah and starting to cross the river that it would cost the sum of $2.50 to get ferried over, and they could not raise the wind. They accordingly pitched their camp here and hope to make enough in the course of time to get across the placid Ohio.

ALL THE ROOMS TAKEN.

So This Couple Had to Marry to Get a Place to Stay.

Colorado Springs, Sept. 7.—It was principally the force of circumstances that compelled R. J. Bayer, of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Jeanette Peltree, of Cleveland, to suddenly become man and wife. They were among the score of tired if not cross tourists who a few nights ago clamored for hotel accommodations in this city. Not only were rooms not available, but cots in offices and corridors were at a premium. Finally, Bayer and Miss Peltree, who had for some hours been agreeable traveling companions, happened to learn at the same time that there was a single unoccupied room at the Spaulding.

Under stress of emergency the friendship of a few hours blossomed into a more cordial appreciation, and an hour later they met the emergency with a marriage certificate, and were awarded the one remaining room in the city. They had married in order to have a roof over their heads.

Sprains.
S. A. Read, Cisco, Tex., writes, March 11, 1901: "My wrist was sprained so badly by a fall that it was useless; and after using several remedies that failed to give relief, used Ballard's Snow Liniment, and was cured. I earnestly recommend it to anyone suffering from sprains."

NOTES FROM HEATH

The Annual Fishing and Hunting club has just returned from Shelly Lake, Ballard county, Ky. Those who partook of the pleasures were: J. D. Smith, wife and children; Clark Fortson, wife and children; A. P. Hill, wife and children; Rev. T. M. McGee and daughter, Miss Cora. The above party were from Heath, Ky., while the following were from Grahamville: John Simmons and wife, E. G. Powell, Dr. S. Z. Holland and wife, Miss Lenora Wood, James Stone, and James Bradford. They report an enjoyable time with plenty of game.

An accident which came very near proving fatal happened to Mr. A. P. Hill, of Heath, Ky. While hunting at Shelly Lake in Ballard county, last week. One morning while out hunting, he was attacked by a band of mosquitoes, remembering the yellow fever germ, he hastened to retreat and fell over a log, jamming the end of his leg into the ground. While in this position he spied a squirrel. He jumped up and fired off his gun. But alas! the barrels being stopped up with mud caused an explosion to his old favorite gun, "Betsy," which was blown to pieces. He came back to camp in a rather dilapidated condition, but he was unhurt.

ITALIAN TOBACCO.

Is Being Shipped Rapidly From Kentucky.

About 1,000 hogheads of the consignment of tobacco to the Italian government remain to be shipped, and in the next few days the last of one of the largest shipments seen here in years will be finished, says yesterday's Courier-Journal. The tobacco has been purchased by W. G. Dunnington, a large broker in New York city, through his agents in this city. The latter have been going through the breaks for the last four months sampling the tobacco, as the best that the warehouses contained was needed. About 8,800 hogheads have been purchased, and it has required four months to get out seven-eighths of it. Most of it comes from the region about Mayfield.

Mayfield Tobacco.

There were no sales at any of the warehouses this week. There are probably not more than 125 hogheads of unsold tobacco outside of the Association in Mayfield. This week last year 240 hogheads of leaf at an average of $4.43 and 106 hogheads of lugs at an average of $3.21 per hundred were sold and there were probably 2,000 hogheads unsold tobacco in the city.—Monitor

BEGINS THIS WEEK.

Work On Mayfield and Wickliffe Road to Start.

It is now reported on good authority that work will begin at least in six places on the new railroad between Wickliffe and Mayfield during this week, says the Mayfield Messenger. The contractors, with their teams, etc., are beginning to arrive at Wickliffe, and will soon be stretched out along the line. The Irish, with their tents, have already begun to drop in at different places between Wickliffe and Fancy Farm. They are always the fore runners of beginning of work on new railroad lines. Everything points to the beginning of work all along in the next few days.

Broke Dumbbell Record.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 7.—By raising two 10-pound dumbbells 9,000 consecutive times Henry Levison of this city, broke the world's record in a trial yesterday. Levison's time for the new record was five hours and forty-one minutes, and during the long grind his strength was kept up by nourishment given him at frequent intervals by an attendant. He finished comparatively fresh and made the last 1,000 lifts in 36 minutes. The former record was made in 1870 by Pennock, of Philadelphia, who raised the weights 8431 times.

We are showing all the new imported and domestic suiting for fall and winter, and shall be pleased to show them to you.

LEAGUE MEETING TO BE HELD THE 24TH

Will Wind up Affairs of the Kitty for the Season.

All the Paducah Players Have Gone Except Potts and Taylor—Potts Goes Tonight.

MANY IN FASTER COMPANY.

The board of directors of the K. L. T. league will meet in Vincennes, Ind., on the fourth Sunday in September, the 24th, to wind up the business of the league for the season.

There are a great many small accounts, such as accounts of scorers and portions of salaries not paid, and these will have to be audited and presented at the meeting for allowance.

President Brown stated this morning that the meeting would wind up the league for the season and that no more meetings would be held until next year, unless it was decided at the meeting on the 24th to call a meeting on some subsequent date.

This season has been remarkably free from dissension, and President Brown had practically nothing to do in the way of deciding questions, none being referred.

As to the local association Chief Lloyd has all records of games which were furnished him last night by the scorer. He has packed the uniforms away for the winter and all players except Potts and Taylor have gone home, and Potts intends to leave tonight. Taylor will probably remain in Paducah during the fall and winter.

As far as reported all players from the Paducah team who have gone in to faster company are making good, especially "Red" Bohanan who is doing good work both in fielding and batting for the Nashville Southern league team.

MORE CHOLERA

Reported From the Vicinity of Berlin—Five New Cases.

Berlin, Sept. 7.—Although no case of cholera has appeared in Berlin the city is making preparations to cope with an invasion.

A number of stations have been established and are fully equipped for preliminary treatment of cholera.

Two new cases of cholera are reported in the Bombon district and two in the village of Schilno and one at Kastenburg.

TWENTY HURT.

In Excursion and Passenger Train Wreck—Three Reported Killed.

New Castle, Pa., Sept. 7.—An excursion and passenger train collided on the Western New York and Pennsylvania road near New Wilmington this morning and it is reported three trainmen were killed and about twenty injured. Railroad officials refuse to give out information.

Letter Carriers Meet.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 7.—Discussion of the insurance problem was the main topic before the national association of Letter Carriers yesterday. The discussion indicated material re-arrangement in the rates, as recommended by mutual benefit association, will be enacted. Provision also was recommended for annuities, loans and return of moneys paid by the association to aged letter carriers.

Jailers Use "Ghost" on Man.

Louisville, Sept. 7.—Confronted daily by the apparent ghost of his alleged victim, Albert Walter, accused of murdering Henry Garr, lives in a state of terror at the county jail.

The ghost is impersonated by Henry Garr, a cousin and a "double" of the victim, who is a turnkey at the jail. Walter does not know the circumstances. It is believed that if he is guilty he will be driven to a confession.

Hunter Is Found Dead in Woods.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 7.—The dead body of Jim Brownlee, 22, a son of a prominent Mississippi planter, was found near his home at Ethelville, Miss., yesterday, with a bullet hole in his head. Recent illness, it is thought, deranged his mind. He was hunting, and it is supposed he killed himself.

—Mr. George Beard, who has resigned on the Jackson Whig, has returned to Paducah to locate.

MORE TRUE BILLS

GRAND JURY MADE ANOTHER REPORT THIS MORNING.

Ed Marable, Colored, Was Indicted for Murder—Three Others Returned.

The grand jury made its second report this morning returning four indictments, all against prisoners now before the court.

They were against Ed Hampton, alias Hamilton, alias Caldwell, colored, who stole brass and copper wire from the I. C. at Hickman and tried to sell it here. He pleaded guilty and was given two years in the penitentiary. This was the first conviction and verdict of the jury.

The other indictments were against Ed Marable, colored, charged with striking Walter Brown with an instrument of some kind and killing him on June 29. His case was set for the 9th day of the present term.

Sherley Hughes, colored, was indicted for selling a stolen bicycle belonging to Hugh Grider for $2, claiming the wheel was his own. His case was set for the 5th day of the term.

Leander Donald, colored, was indicted for stealing wearing apparel from the residence of Mrs. Ella Armstrong, wife of the well known minister. Her case was set for the 6th day of the term.

LIVELY CONTEST

Probable Over the $10,000 Policy of H. A. Rose.

Mr. F. G. Rudolph, administrator of the late H. A. Rose, and his attorney, Mr. W. V. Eaton, are having a lively time over the settlement of the $10,000 insurance policy on the life of H. A. Rose, which is being held by the Western National bank, of Louisville.

Attorney Eaton stated that the bank is not a beneficiary and therefore can not make out proofs of death an essentiality in collecting the insurance. On the other hand the bank claims the policy for security for a debt and will not relinquish it. This is one of the biggest policies on the life of the deceased and was made out to the Kentucky Mill & Lumber Co., which the attorney claims had no insurable interest. The fight being made is for the face value of the policy to go into the hands of the administrator and from every indication will cause a great deal of litigation before the matter is finally settled.

RUN DOWN BY TRAIN.

Two Men Killed and Several Hurt Near Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Sept. 7.—One man was killed and one died on the way to the hospital and three are seriously hurt by being run down by a passenger train on the Pennsylvania railway at Homewood this morning. The men were employees of the Westinghouse company waiting for a train to go to work when run down by a train coming in the opposite direction.

G. A. R. MEETING.

Lively Fight Over Commander—Minneapolis to Get Next Meeting.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 7.—A bitter fight is on for commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. Radiant pension advocates favor Corporal Tanner and the conservatives are led by Pennsylvania, oppose him. Minneapolis will probably get the next reunion.

Norwegians Want Treaty.

Karlstadt, Sweden, Sept. 7.—Commissioners of Sweden and Norway, who are considering the question of dissolution of union, held two sessions today. While no official statement was given out, it is understood some progress was made and that Norwegians requested making of arbitration treaty as basis for future negotiations.

NOT FOR SALE

(Original.)

George Stanfield was a woman hater. He was a manufacturer and was one day testing a piece of machinery when a portion of it fell and broke his leg. He was carried home and his physician and friend sent for in hot haste.

"George," said the doctor, "you must have a trained nurse."

"A man?"

"No, a woman."

"No devil of a woman shall enter this house."

The doctor mused for a moment, then said: "I will send a man. No woman would remain on the case."

When the nurse reported Stanfield was surprised. "Why, you're nothing but a boy," he said. "How old are you?"

"Twenty."

"H'm!" grunted the patient.

The nurse set about tidying up the room, after which he took the patient's temperature, etc., and noted it on his card.

"What's your name?" asked Stanfield.

"Fred Varrill."

"I'll call you Fred. Fred, hand me the morning paper."

The nurse handed him a paper, then, taking up a medical book, sat down and began to study. The patient feverishly turned over the pages of the journal, but read nothing.

"Loosen the bandage on my leg," he said sharply.

"Not without an order."

"Loosen the bandage or leave this house."

The nurse closed his book and began preparations for departure.

"Sit down," growled the patient.

The nurse again took up his book.

"I say, what's your name—Fred?"

You're not so Miss Nancy as I thought you."

The nurse got up, went to the bed and laid his hand soothingly on Stanfield's forehead. Then after smoothing the pillows he went to prepare the patient's supper.

"By Jove, Fred," said Stanfield one evening after he had belabored the boy unmercifully with his tongue, "when I get well I'm going to make you my major domo. You've the patience of a saint. It has always been dull coming home after business and finding no lights in the library, no fire on the hearth. You'd be just the one to take care of all this. Will you stay with me?"

"No."

"Yes, you will. I'm rich enough to buy a boy like you a dozen times."

To this Varrill made no reply.

One morning Varrill informed Stanfield that the doctor wanted him for another patient.

"Now, see here, young man," said Stanfield, "name your price to remain here and run this house."

"I'm not to be bought."

"By a brute, you mean."

"My service has been very pleasant. You're not a brute. You're a very kind hearted, good man."

"Well, I'll be hanged! Just listen to that!"

The nurse went out of the room. The next morning he did not appear as usual with the patient's breakfast, which was carried up by a servant.

"Where's Varrill?"

"In his room, sir."

"Tell him to come here immediately."

The servant set down the breakfast and went out. A moment later Stanfield was startled by an apparition.

"What's that standing in the doorway? A woman in this house? How did she get in? She's the image of Fred. Great Scott, she is Fred!"

The girl advanced, holding out a handful of checks.

"Mr. Stanfield," she said, "I must ask you to make these payable to Frederica Varrill. They're my weekly salaries. I'm a woman."

"H'm! Now I see why you have refused to stay with me."

"I have enjoyed the comedy very much. I have to thank you for your kindness to a boy as a woman I owe you no thanks."

"Kindness? Bosh! I want you to stay here."

"It wouldn't do for me to remain as your housekeeper. We're both too young."

"Housekeeper! What do you think it would be worth to marry a devil?"

Miss Varrill turned. Stanfield got up from an easy chair in which he was sitting and, leaning on a cane, hobbled toward her.

"Fred," he said pathetically, "I've always hated women, but you're not a woman; you're a paragon of amiability. Of course I can't ask you to love me. I couldn't expect a woman to do that, but if you'll stay with me as my wife I'll be good to you."

She turned away from him, and his heart sank, but in a moment she faced him again.

"I have loved you," she said, "ever since I came here to nurse you."

Later they called up the doctor on the telephone, and Frederica Varrill told him that she would not take a new case.

"What's the matter?" asked the doctor.

Stanfield took the receiver and replied: "Robber in the house."

"Robber?"

"Yes. The nurse you sent me has been stealing."

"What can't be. She's as honest as the sun. Some mistake."

"She's stolen my heart."

A "ha, ha," came back over the wire, followed by the doctor's congratulations. "I've seen such men as you before," he added, "and I know that they are more vulnerable than those who make no pretense at woman hating. I'm glad you're cured of your folly."

The Board of Works Holds Regular Meeting and Transacts Much Business

The board of public works met yesterday afternoon and transacted much routine business.

A petition was drafted to present to the legislative boards to permit the contractors to suspend putting down bitulithic streets until spring. The council turned the petition down last night.

The board notified Contractors Bridges Sons that the dirt taken off street belonged to the city and he had no right to sell it. It is alleged he had been selling the dirt. He is paid for hauling it. The city intends to use the dirt in a fill on South Fourth street.

Contractors Bridges Sons were also notified that the city intended holding it through the board of works, responsible for delays occasioned by the failure to put down brick between the street car tracks. The brick manufacturing concerns are unable to furnish this class of brick at present.

The street inspector was notified to adopt what means possible to relieve manufacturing concerns and coal dealers at Third and Ohio streets in passing over that street. A bridge for temporary use has been suggested.

A report from the county authorities saying that the county would refuse at present to take part in experimenting by spreading oil on roads, was received and filed. The city desired the county to join in this experiment, but the experiment will now have to be carried through by the city alone.

City Engineer Washington reported that his records showed no sewer connections with the Michael building being put up on North 3rd street. No action was taken except to transfer it to the council.

The street inspector was ordered to repair the market house roof, some slate having dropped off.

A complaint from Mrs. Rosa Rob-erison that a building between 4th and 5th, Broadway and Kentucky avenue, formerly occupied by Attorney J. M. Worten, was being damaged by wagons driving in the alley, was received and filed. The board has no jurisdiction.

The matter of building a culvert at the last bridge on Caldwell street was deferred, the street car company not having made a contract to furnish any part of the material. The deal to sell the railway is delaying the matter.

Engineer Wright, of the street roller, was laid off, there being no further work for him at the present.

Notification from Mr. Ed Bradshaw that he would not dispose of property necessary to open 19th St. from Monroe to Jefferson, was filed.

Solicitor James Campbell, Jr., notified the board that the city could not be legally held responsible for wages or debts made by city contractors on city jobs. Mechanics' liens must be filed against the contractors and the city is in no way responsible.

Death Near Kirksey.

William Langston, aged 72, and a highly respected citizen, was found dead in his bed last Friday morning at his home two miles north of Kirksey, on the Benton and Kirksey road. He made tobacco sticks the day before, got very hot and at night cooled off, took a chill and went to bed and the next morning when breakfast was about ready, his wife went to the bed to wake him, and found his body cold in death. He left a wife and two sons, J. I. and Johnson Langston, and one daughter, Mrs. Monroe Patton, living six miles north of Mayfield. He was buried at Carmel church cemetery near where he died.—Mayfield Messenger.
